JOCKEY CLUB FEELING PINCH

ONE DOLLAR SWEEPS IN FUTURE

NO MORE AT FIVE DOLLARS

THROUGH TICKET FOR $9

A revolutionary change has been decided on by the Stewards of the Hongkong Jockey Club in reducing the price of all cash sweep tickets to the flat rate of one dollar per ticket, effective as from the next Extra Race Meeting.

The reason for the change is to stimulate sales, in the hope that prizes, which have latterly shown a falling off by reason of lack of support, will reach the old levels, or go even higher.

CHANCE IN BIG SWEEP.

Formerly, sweep tickets at the Race Meetings have cost $5 or $10, and as a result of the decision to reduce the price to $1, it will be possible to secure a through ticket at the 6th Extra Race Meeting, on June 2nd for $9, instead of $50 or $60 formerly.

Those purchasing a through ticket at the June Meeting will have a chance in the big sweep on the Jockey Stakes, in which so far 55,000 tickets have been sold.

U.S. GOVERNMENT BUYING SILVER

MESSAGE BELIEVED CONFORMATORY

New York, May 23. Well-informed quarters in Wall Street see in President Roosevelt's silver message confirmation of the belief that the Treasury Department has recently been buying silver in the open market through the Stabilization Fund.

It is the general opinion that the purchases have amounted to between thirty and forty million ounces and that, therefore, not more than $20,000,000 is engaged in the market.—Reuter.

MANCHURIA MYSTERY

AMERICANS REPORTED ABDUCTED

SOCONY OFFICE STATEMENT

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received May 24, 8.15 a.m.)

New York, May 23. Some mystery seems to be attached to reports widely published in the United States suggesting that prominent American officials of the Standard Oil Company of New York in Manchuria have disappeared.

The story suggested that they had been victims of a kidnapping outrage in the Chinchow area.

Socony headquarters who have received word of the reported abduction of company officials in Manchuria, said that the company had nobody permanently stationed at Chinchow and they had only one American employee in Peking. The State Department in Washington told inquirers that they had received no information of any abduction.—United Press.

SLUMP IN U.S. TEXTILE INDUSTRY

Sales Only 47 Per Cent. of Production

New York, May 23. In connection with the twenty-five per cent. curtailment of production in the cotton textile industry for twelve weeks, Mr. Sloan, chairman of the Code Authority, states that unsold stocks of cotton goods on April 30 amounted to $30,000,000, while weekly sales during April only averaged $9,000,000. The weekly production averaged 130,000,000 yards, or 62 per cent. above the current demand.

The decreased demand was particularly marked in the second half of the month when sales only amounted to 47 per cent. of production.—Reuter.

DILLINGER'S BEAUTIFUL GIRL FRIEND JAILED

FOR AIDING MURDERER BANDIT

DOCTOR ALSO SENTENCED

TREATED GUNSHOT WOUND

New York, May 23. The beautiful girl friend of John ("The Killer") Dillinger, who actively participated in several of his most daring escapades since he broke out of gaol, paid the penalty for her association with America's Public Enemy No. 1 at St. Paul, Minnesota to-day.

Her name is Evelyn Frechette and she was arrested in St. Paul a few days ago.

Twice in the past few months she found herself with Dillinger in a police trap and twice she accompanied him as he shot his way through the police cordons. Evelyn was to-day found guilty of conspiracy to harbour the bandit, who is accused of thirteen murders, and a sentence of two years' imprisonment in a reformatory and a fine of $1,000 was passed.

DOCTOR SENTENCED.

Dr. Clayton May was sentenced to a similar punishment on a similar charge.

It was revealed that Dillinger was recently wounded in one of his brushes with the police. Dr. Clayton May was alleged to have treated Dillinger for a gunshot wound and was charged with failing to report cases of gunshot wounds to the authorities.—Reuter.

Paris, May 23. A grave view is taken by the authorities of the theft of important documents from the Saarbrücken offices of Saar Mines.

The thieves entered the Information Offices, stole the documents after rifling the safe, and escaped in a motor-car.

Three night watchmen have also disappeared and it is inferred that the robbery was carried out with their collusion.—Reuter Special.

BOMBAY RIOTERS FIRED ON

STRIKERS CLASH WITH POLICE

MILL WORKERS DEFY ORDER

Bombay, May 23. A serious disturbance in the Mill district to-day has left a tense atmosphere, although the area for the moment is quiet.

Six mill strikers were wounded when the police opened fire on a riotous mob, which attacked the police violently following a lathi charge.

The trouble began when two thousand strikers, returning to the mill area after celebrating the completion of a month's strike, insisted upon following a prohibited route.

A police cordon was thrown across the road barring progress, upon which the strikers retaliated by squatting on the roadway and refusing to move.

MOB COUNTER ATTACKS.

The police charged the crowd with lathis, injuring a dozen strikers, who counter-attacked with bricks, stones and flower-pots.

The police then fired fifty rounds, dispersing the mob. The situation is now under control.—Reuter.

SILVER STILL A PUZZLE

GOOD EFFECT IN LONG RUN

NO FRESH LIGHT

New York, May 23.

Messrs. E. A. Pierce and Co. report on the stock market as follows:—The International Economic Research Bureau states:—"We consider the action of the President in deciding to add silver to our monetary system, at a time when silver is selling at the lowest price in history in relation to gold, will not only turn out to be distinctly helpful in increasing the world's commodity prices but any action to attain such a level is bound to be very profitable in the end to the American Treasury. There is nothing to throw any fresh light on the situation and there is little incentive to business on either side of the market."

BRITAIN ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

Nearly Back To 1929 Trade Figures

London, May 23. Industrial activity in the United Kingdom in the first quarter of 1934 as estimated by the Board of Trade was 3.8 per cent. greater than in the fourth quarter of 1933, and 15 per cent. greater than in the first quarter of 1933. The general index for last quarter is the highest recorded since the March quarter of 1930 while the index for the manufacturing industries is the highest since the December quarter of 1929.—British Wireless.

GERMAN BID FOR MARKETS

LABOUR FRONT SUGGESTIONS

RESTORATION OF LOST TRADE

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received May 24, 8.15 a.m.)

Berlin, May 23.

Wide interest has been aroused by the latest Nazi proposal for increasing industrial exports, although the scheme, for the present, is entirely unofficial.

The aim is to enable German exporters to recover the £240,000,000 of foreign trade which has been lost in the past two years—a large part latterly as the result of the Jewish-organised boycott.

Suggestion made by the Employees' Association and the German Labour Front are printed in the Nazi newspaper, Volksbeobachter, and may be thus summarised briefly—an appeal to German exporters to make more extensive use of Germans as representatives abroad and a suggestion that all Germans abroad should be enlisted in the cause and asked to help a campaign to popularise German goods.—Reuter Special.

DEATHKNELL OF DIRIGIBLES?

U.S. EXPERTS DISAGREE

MACON'S PART IN MANOEUVRES

USELESS FOR WAR PURPOSES

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received May 24, 8.15 a.m.)

Washington, May 23.

The future of the airship in the United States for military or naval purposes is very uncertain.

The experience of the Macon in the recent manoeuvres has caused a conflict of opinions.

Mr. Claud Swanson, Secretary of the Navy Department, said that the executive officers of the United States Navy were divided upon the advisability or otherwise of continuing dirigible developments.

He indicated that the considered reports of experts regarding the Macon's association with the Caribbean manoeuvres would be the determining factor.

"We are still experimenting with dirigibles," he said. "We wish to find if the Macon justifies her maintenance and expense."

NAVAL EQUALITY DEMAND

JAPAN GIVEN HINT BY AMERICA

THE PROBABLE RESPONSE

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received May 24, 8.15 a.m.)

Washington, May 23.

An important statement, defining the attitude of the United States to the threatened demand of Japan for naval equality in all respects and suggesting that a strengthening of American naval bases would almost certainly follow, was made to-day.

Mr. Claud Swanson, Secretary of the Navy Department, said that the United States would seriously consider extending her Pacific naval bases if Japan insists upon parity.

The United States agreed at the Washington Conference to restrict her Pacific bases, he said, but in view of the Japanese demands their extension "will be considered, although the question has not yet been settled."

NO REASON FOR CHANGE.

Mr. Swanson stated that the United States strongly favoured maintenance of the present ratios. "We agreed upon them in London thinking that they would provide safety for each nation concerned."

"I see no adequate reason for changing them at the present time."—United Press.

Sofia, May 23.

As was rumoured two days ago, M. Bataloff, the Bulgarian Minister in Paris, has been appointed Foreign Minister in the new Fascist government at Sofia.

This is interpreted as confirmation of the belief of a closer association of France and Bulgaria in future.—Reuter Special.

British Home Ownership Movement

STRIKING GROWTH RECORDED

London, May 23.

The striking growth of the movement in Britain for home-ownership by paying small instalments on loans instead of rent was revealed in London to-day.

During last year the building societies in Britain advanced over one hundred million pounds to borrowers and the total assets of these societies now exceed five hundred million pounds.

These figures, which constitute a record, were to-day given by Sir Harold Bellman, chairman, at the annual conference of the Building Societies.

A message was sent to the King in which reference was made to the encouragement received from him by the societies in their work of "extending home ownership and the high citizenship of those who have a personal stake in their native land."—British Wireless.

A "MANCHUKUO" NAVY

$50,000,000 For Initial Programme

Shanghai, May 24.

Considerable interest has been aroused in political circles by a seemingly reliable report that the Manchukuo Government is planning the building of a "Manchukuo" Navy, with an initial expenditure of $50,000,000. It is also learned that the Japanese Government is proceeding with a second naval air expansion programme, which will provide for thirty-nine new air squadrons.—Central News.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

All You Need Is Velvet Ribbon to Make This Charming Cocktail Hat and Ruff

Fasten a little "Cocktail Ruff" of velvet ribbon around your neck and your street frock will take on a festive air that puts it into the informal afternoon category. The smart ruff, illustrated here, requires only three and one-half yards of transparent velvet ribbon, four inches wide (which can be purchased in any five and ten-cent store), and one-half yard of cord. Here are the directions:

Step 1.—Cut piece of four-inch ribbon required length to fit your neck, leaving one-half inch for seams at each end. Cut remaining piece of ribbon in half and gather each piece one-fourth inch from selvage to size of neck band required, having neck band one-half inch longer on each end.

Step 2.—Fold neck band in half and sew one piece of gathered ribbon between the selvages of the neck band. Pull cord through neck band and sew across top of ribbon at fold.

Step 3.—Sew other piece of gathered ribbon to neck band just under cord so that the ruff when finished will fall right-side over the bottom ruff.

Step 4.—Turn in hem at each end of neck band and sew on snappers or hooks and eyes to fasten the ruff snugly around your neck.

The cocktail hat that matches the collar can be made from two yards of chiffon velvet ribbon, two inches wide, and one-half yard of maline.

Step 1.—To make the brim, start at end of ribbon by making a loop three-quarters of an inch long when finished. That takes one and one-half inches of ribbon. Gather the loop to one inch. Leave one-half inch plain and make another three-quarter inch loop and gather to one inch. Leave one-half inch plain. Repeat, making loops and leaving plain spaces until you have a strip about 22 inches long or the required length for your head size. Cut off remaining ribbon and fasten together to make brim. With a long stitch catch loops to plain spaces to make loops lay flat.

Step 2.—To make the crown of the little hat, cut two rounds of maline each 13 inches in diameter. Gather together the two rounds around the edge, making a one-fourth inch hem and pull gathering thread to measure the required size to fit the brim. Fasten the thread.

Step 3.—Place maline crown inside of velvet brim so that the edge of crown comes to one-fourth inch from edge of velvet brim and sew together on the inside of the hat.

Step 4.—To make the crown of the little hat, cut two rounds of maline each 13 inches in diameter. Gather together the two rounds around the edge, making a one-fourth inch hem and pull gathering thread to measure the required size to fit the brim. Fasten the thread.

Step 5.—Place maline crown inside of velvet brim so that the edge of crown comes to one-fourth inch from edge of velvet brim and sew together on the inside of the hat.

Step 6.—To make the crown of the little hat, cut two rounds of maline each 13 inches in diameter. Gather together the two rounds around the edge, making a one-fourth inch hem and pull gathering thread to measure the required size to fit the brim. Fasten the thread.

Step 7.—Place maline crown inside of velvet brim so that the edge of crown comes to one-fourth inch from edge of velvet brim and sew together on the inside of the hat.

Ruffling Down to the Train

This flattering printed evening gown of crown rayon with a rippling cascade back ruffle that ends in a short train was shown by the New York Fashion Group at their exhibition of Man-Made Materials.

Teaching is hard work, very. Don't jump to conclusions. A little investigating, a little oil on the wheels will do wonders in most cases.

YOUR CHILDREN.

Teachers Need Understanding

By Olive Roberts Barton

Children want to like their teacher. Some one must take mother's place during the day and they naturally look to her.

How greedily they drink in every word of personal kindness. A pat on the shoulder is remembered for days—perhaps forever. They are hungry for her approbation and praise and except in very few cases, try to please her.

Yet taking the teaching profession by and large—any cross section will do—there are as many different types of personalities as there are in any other business, trade or profession in the world—and there will be some who are not temperamentally fitted for teaching, regardless of how many degrees they have.

Removing the Experienced

I have seen teachers removed from positions who were more than qualified to hold them, to make room for younger women with more letters behind their names. Women who not only loved children, but who were born to understand the individual characteristics of each little struggler under them. Perhaps they were married and this was the reason for removal. In some cases these married women were supporting jobless husbands or whole families. And single girls with no particular reason except that of a career have been put in their places.

Now it makes no difference to me personally about this state of affairs. In many cases the teacher removed should have been, and the young, energetic girl who took her place is indeed more perfectly fitted for the work.

What I believe needs emphasizing, however, is the selection of teachers who are akin to childhood and who have an understanding and sympathy (in its true sense) for the behaviour, the failures and the earnestness of the child to do the best he can.

Satisfying a System

Of course, there is this problem. Behind the teacher there is a system that she must satisfy. She cannot turn maudlin and cry over the 50 children under her control and for whose success and marks she is responsible. She has to answer to the powers that be for failures and marks. Also she has to do her own disciplining, which is unfortunate. That should be a separate department, entirely as the recalcitrant child and the incorrigible are problems, very often, for the specialist.

But when a child goes through elementary school, junior high and high school, he is almost certain to have one or two teachers who will not understand him because she has not the gift of understanding any child.

In such a case it is best, I think not to make matters worse by siding with the child when he calls her "Old This or That." Your heart may ache for him and you feel like adding a few choice adjectives of your own.

Smoothing Troubled Waters

If there is any injustice too drastic, a little quiet conversation with the teacher herself may help. If there is no real trouble, but just a feeling of irritation and dislike on the child's part, it might be advisable to say, "I understand, dear, and I am sorry. But that is the way it is sometimes. Daddy works for a man who doesn't quite understand how hard he works and how he tries to please. I used to be in a store (or wherever it was) where the head was hard to please. We all get discouraged. Try to do your best and be patient. Some day it will change and you will be in another room."

Sometimes it is good for children to have the experience of people not "understanding" or liking them. There is home to balance it. And besides it is typical of life.

The child may be to blame. Do not judge any teacher too harsh-

Married Flirts

by MABEL
McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married the same day as LILA HOTALING and DEREK BLISS. Lila expects to live in luxury, but Gypsy intends to keep her job teaching in a settlement house.

The first night Gypsy and Tom spent in their New York apartment. Lila Gray, an old friend of Tom's, telephoned. Tom asked her to lunch to meet Gypsy, but Gypsy can't leave her work. Later Vera calls and the two girls dislike each other.

Weeks later Lila and Derek return from their honeymoon in Europe. Lila asks the Weavers to dinner and Gypsy is enormously impressed by the party.

CHAPTER VII

Someone turned on the radio and the sound of jazz blared through the big room. Hilda Blanchard held out her arms to someone—was it Tom?—and began to dance.

Hilda was in red—flame red, and her little black curls, feathering all over her small head, gave her a slightly Grecian air. She, like Lila, affected an unearthly pallor and her lips were like a geranium slash in her pulled face. She hung on Tom. She was, Gypsy observed, almost as tall as he; while she, Gypsy, was smaller, reached only to his shoulder.

Under her laughter, her civilized air of casualness, the most primitive of all emotions began to stir—that of jealousy. It was unreasonable, she admitted it. It was mad. It was utterly without foundation. Why, she had never laid eyes on this girl before in her life, and neither had Tom. Yet, from the first moment of entering the room, she had felt a wholly foolish and feminine sensation of distrust. Hilda had liked Tom at sight, that much was certain.

"You can tell. A wife can tell," said Gypsy to herself with all the wisdom of her 22 years. Meanwhile she chattered and nodded her head: said "absolutely!" with emphasis, although she hadn't the faintest notion what Derek wanted her to agree with. Her hand was in a whirl. It was all very well, she thought, for Tom to behave nicely to this girl: that was part of being a guest. But he needn't act as though she were the only person in the room. He didn't even glance to see if she (Gypsy) were having a good time: how she was faring. And they had been married only a little more than two months! Why it was monstrous! It was unbelievable!

Gypsy thought that Derek glanced at her rather oddly. She tried to collect her thoughts, to attend to what he was saying.

"I beg your pardon. I'm afraid I didn't hear that. The music is so loud."

"Awful," agreed Derek. "Can't hear yourself think. I'll turn it down. I just said it was time for Marko to be here, if he's coming at all."

He left her with a murmured excuse to adjust the dial of the instrument, and Gypsy was left with the disturbing news. Marko Broughton was coming, after all!

Yet somehow the thought did not seem quite so disquieting, so disagreeable, now, as it had some hours before. Marko had been in love with her a year ago—or so he had said. Marko had wanted her to marry him, ignoring the great disparity in their ages.

Marko was 60, very rich, commanding. He was that character of stage and drama and downtown life, a financier. The thought of marrying Marko had seemed preposterous to Gypsy, and she had said as much to Lila, who had introduced him to her.

"Why, you little goose, he's worth millions," she remembered Lila had said, indulgently. "What on earth are you thinking of?"

Yes, there had been, decidedly, a tone of envy in Lila's voice.

Lila hadn't been able to understand Gypsy's choice of a handsome, penniless youngster like Tom Weaver. Derek was one of Marko's many young men—and Lila hoped that great things were to come of his association with Broughton & Co. This apartment, all these things (which seemed such luxury to Gypsy and Tom) were, in Lila's mind, mere stepping stones in a rich man's career.

And now Marko was coming. Gypsy would meet him for the first time since she had been Tom Weaver's wife!

For Tom's sake, she had hoped Marko would not turn up. Tom hated the very idea of the "rich old man" who had wanted Gypsy for his own. But now, looking at Hilda, at the possessive way her scarlet-tipped hand curled itself around Tom's black collar, Gypsy decided she was glad he was coming. Let Tom worry! Let him be jealous, too.

The orchestra music came to a pause, and the announcer's voice, disagreeably nasal, came through:

"Now I want to tell all our friends about the wonderful prize offered the Blank Soap Company is making—a sterling silver spoon as so-lutely free."

"Shut it off. Isn't that dreadful . . . stop dancing, you two, I can't bear it."

Simultaneously with Derek's clicking off of the music, a slight commotion ensued. Koto, bowing and smiling as a slave before a potentate, ushered Marko into the room!

Marko had made a good entrance. Trust him for that. Gypsy smiled to herself at the thought. Hilda, one of those predatory-looking, scarlet-tipped hands of hers still clinging to her partner's coat sleeve, stared at him interestedly. Lila greeted the great man prettily. Her manner was a deft blend of respect and comradeship.

"You know everybody but Hilda Blanchard, I think, Marko. And, oh yes, Tom Weaver."

Marko's bright, steel-gray eyes, under their commanding brows, went from face to face.

"Gypsy!" He was all cordiality. "They didn't tell me I was to see you. But how splendid!"

He shook hands with Tom, after a keen glance. Marko was not in the least the "old man" young Mr. Weaver had pictured to himself.

He carried his 60 years well. Handball and swimming kept him in the pink of condition. He was a decidedly attractive man in middle life. No one in his senses could have called him old, and Tom's frown attested to this thought.

"Give Marko a drink, darling, while we get our things," Lila cried, marshalling the womenfolk up the stairway. "We're going on to the Cotton Club, darling, you knew that?"

The latter endearment was directed at the great visitor. Gypsy was amused. Apparently "darling" meant nothing on earth to Lila. She called her friends, her husband, her husband's boss, all by the same affectionate term. The fine old Anglo-Saxon word, sacred to lovers down the ages, was the merest scrap of courtesy.

Hilda sat on a pouf in Lila's room and smoked a hasty cigarette while the others renewed make-up and talked in the vague fashion women affect when they are absorbed in their personal appearances.

Young Mrs. Wilford Gypsy thought eminently likeable. She was a rosy young woman with prematurely gray hair and bright blue eyes. She turned cordially to Gypsy.

"My dear, you must come to see me. I should love it. Come in for tea next week, won't you?"

Gypsy explained lightly that she had a job.

"Oh, you write or paint or something, isn't that it?"

"No, it's kindergarten work, at a settlement," Gypsy explained. She felt self-conscious, with Hilda's critical eyes upon her. Hilda was measuring her frankly and coolly, in a disconcerting fashion.

"How very interesting!" Hilda contributed, in a drawing voice, at this juncture of the conversation. She rubbed her half-smoked cigarette out in an alabaster tray and stood up, stretching herself in feline fashion.

"Come along," Lila interposed. "They'll be shouting for us, we're dawdling so."

For miles along Pingliang Road in Shanghai last week, thousands of Chinese turned out in festive garb for celebration of the great festival of "Doo Tel Dah Wei" banned by authority for more than 10 years, but which made up in enthusiasm for its long absence. At top are shown stilled women, gaudily painted, whose antics amused the crowds. Centre is a view of the huge ceremonial umbrellas and a cross-section of the two-mile long procession. Below are a group of the women who carried flowers and potted plants. The girl in front is carrying a basket suspended by means of thongs through the skin of the forearm.

KEEP YOUR CHILDREN

HEALTHY WITH ENO

To be really happy and healthy, children must never be even slightly constipated. The best and safest way to prevent this dangerous condition is to give them a dash of ENO's "Fruit Salt" in a glass of water regularly. This simple precaution will ensure that all poisonous waste is dismissed from their systems, gently, naturally and thoroughly.

ENO contains nothing harsh or drastic—that is why it is so good for children. And how they welcome the morning glass of ENO once they have learned what a pleasant bubbly drink it is. Always have a bottle of ENO's "Fruit Salt" in the house.

EMPIRE DAY

EARL JELICOE'S MESSAGE TO THE DOMINIONS

Admiral of the Fleet Earl Jellicoe, G.C.B., G.C.V.O., President of the Empire Day Movement, sends the following goodwill message to all parts of the Dominions: "It is my privilege, as President of the Empire Day Movement, once again to send a message of warmest greeting to all parts of His Majesty's Dominions. In doing so this year, it is with very real pleasure that I note the change that has taken place during the last twelve months in the economic situation—a change which has resulted in a steady improvement in trade and a gradual but sure diminution in the figures of unemployment, the problem which has been the cause of such anxiety during the last few years, and which has given rise to no much distress.

"The road to our old prosperity may still be lengthy, but the spirit which has enabled our people throughout the Empire to overcome the formidable difficulties which confronted us two years ago will unquestionably remain to enable us to meet any troubles yet before us. Unity, comradeship and sympathy between the people who compose our great Empire are, and ever will be, essential to its strength and prosperity. Empire Influence.

"The well-being and happiness of 493 million people depend upon Empire prosperity, and undoubtedly the peace of the world is largely affected by the influence which the Empire can exert upon international problems. For this influence our combined strength is necessary.

"The Empire Day Movement exists to impress upon the people of the Empire their responsibility in these matters. "May this Empire Day be celebrated with one thought in each mind: that our Empire with God's blessing shall grow stronger and stronger in the cause of World Peace and Prosperity."

HONGKONG WIN AT SOCCER

up against the bar and Strange pouncing the rebound shot into the net. Corner to both teams were fruitless and the interval arrived with the F.A. leading by a goal to nil.

SECOND HALF.

The second half opened with a raid by the Japanese on the F.A. goal, Kawamoto shooting wide from close range. The F.A. increased the lead through Strange who sent in a fast cross shot to give the goalie no chance.

The Japanese got away from the centre kick, but Nozawa shot wide from the penalty spot. Ridley sent out to the left and Malpas returning to the centre. E. Strange completed the "hat trick" with a fast cross shot that left the goalie standing. The Japanese were struggling for a goal and from a centre by Otani, Ukon worked to the centre and beat Cord with a hard low drive. Cord just touching the ball as it went into the net.

The same player again beat Cord in the next minute. A. V. Gosano punted the ball well forward and a race between the goalie and Ridley ended in favour of the Lincoln player who turned the ball passed Kawamoto and it rolled just over the line with the goalie absent. A. V. Gosano went through to make the name safe for the F.A., beating the goalie from close range with a well placed shot. Cord did well to keep out several fine shots before the final whistle sounded.

ANOTHER EXHIBITION. The Chinese Olympic team returning from Manila has sent a wireless message asking for a football match on their return to Hongkong. The Council of the Hongkong F.A. met last evening and selected the following players to meet the Chinese Olympic team on Saturday next on the Hongkong F.C. ground at 5.30 p.m.

Cord; Mullane, Morrison; Robertson, Podmore, Jones; B. Gosano, A. V. Gosano; E. Strange; Ridley, Malpas. Reserves—S. Strange, Hill and Elliott.

WHERE THE NEW DEAL SUCCEEDS

the necessary foundation of public consent can be built. The New Deal is not something which can establish itself in the mind of a dictator or a small governing group.

There is no man in these times who is not aware of the crisis we are in the midst of. This battle for a New Deal is not yet over; indeed I suspect it has just begun. At the most optimistic estimate we shall end the year we are in with millions of unemployed. How do you suppose these men and their families feel about the academic question, whether it is recovery we want or whether it is reform?

The Old Deal brought this insecurity into the midst of their homes; if we returned to what we had before, it would still be there, and we should have outraged them baselessly. We have set out faces not toward theories or labels, but toward the necessary actions. The facts are stubborn and ugly. We are driven by them to find a better way of life than we have had.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Fox Film has scooped the entertainment world again to give you the first motion picture production of the one only to the King's Theatre on Sunday next. With the unlimited scope afforded by motion picture technique, this new edition of the famous show will be bigger, better, more spectacular, more fully entertaining than any of the productions that have thus far made the name of George White an outstanding one in the amusement universe. The cast is one of the most outstanding ever assembled for a similar production. Headed by Rudy Vallee and Jimmy Durante, it presents Albee Faye, who won screen stardom after only three days in Hollywood; Adrienne Ames, one of the screen's most beautiful actresses; Cliff Edwards, the "Ukulele King" of theatrical and radio fame; Gregory Ratoff, master of comic dialect; Dixie Dunbar, Gertrude Michael, and the famed George White himself. With 150 of the most gorgeous screen "Scandals", the dances staged by George White, and song hits from the pens of Ray Henderson, Irving Caesar and Jack Yellen, the film is further enriched by one of the tenderest love stories ever screened. The direction is by Thornton Freeland and Harry Lachman, and the entire production was made under the supervision of Robert T. Kane.

"Only Yesterday"

An important event in local theatricals will take place when John M. Stahl's Universal love drama, "Only Yesterday," is shown on Sunday at the Queen's and Alhambra Theatres. Not since "Back Street" has a picture directed by Stahl reached the screen, and the new production is said to excel in every way any previous screenplay filmed by this master in handling domestic drama. Margaret Sullivan, John Boles, Reginald Denny, Billie Burke and Edna Mae Oliver play the featured roles in "Only Yesterday," and their supporting cast includes thousands of extras and more than 75 well-known screen players in speaking parts. The story based on the best selling "Only Yesterday" of Frederick Lewis Allen, covers a span of 12 years, follows the tragic love affair of Margaret Sullivan and John Boles, whose only meeting takes place at a dance while he is an officer in training at a local camp. Sudden tragedy and disillusionment follow, with the story sweeping on through the Armistice and up to the fateful November, 1929, the day of the Stock Market disaster. Even in these days of staggering combinations of box office all star casts, the roster of players collected by Universal for "Only Yesterday" is unequalled for fine, expert casting. In Margaret Sullivan, Stahl firmly believes the screen has found a new, enduring star.

EMPIRE DAY

In common with people in many lands and climes owing allegiance to the same Crown, Hongkong to-day joins in remembering the unity and loyalty which bind the component parts of the Empire together. Tangible evidence of the Colony's concern and interest in a problem affecting every part of the Empire has been provided by the effort made on behalf of the Empire Day, a cause worthy of all possible support. On Empire Day, it is well that we remember that our inheritance is a living thing—not merely a tradition, a finished structure, a tale that has been told. As the Prime Minister has said, "ours is an illogical structure, but logic in Constitution-making proves the bankruptcy of statesmen—we live by spirit, not by form; the diverse races and nationalities who owe with us a common allegiance are happy because that allegiance is no yoke." We are not living in peace times, and although the kind of grip which keeps the Empire together may change, it would be a calamity were we to lose that grip altogether, so that the great Commonwealth should fall away into a group of States foreign to each other. It can be said without the least boasting that the British Commonwealth has gone further and with greater success than any other alliance of self-governing States in securing freedom for nationality within a union, while avoiding the danger of satellite States grouped round a powerful and controlling centre. This last form is a danger to peace and individuality at the same time. The British Commonwealth is, on the other hand, not only a security to internal peace, but a powerful world influence for universal concord. Its present structure is designed to promote liberty and fellowship—the two great needs of the world to-day. It is, indeed, not too much to say that only by a general extension of the ideas upon which the Empire is maintained will the world find solutions for its present troubles both in political and economic policy. Over against the nationalist individualism and separatism of the end of the nineteenth and much of the nineteenth century politics can be placed the national co-operation and fellowship reflected by the Empire in the twentieth. So we can to-day regard the British Commonwealth of Nations, not merely as a creation of the past, but a structure also of the future. It still has a great destiny to fulfil in the preservation of the basic principles on which it has been built. In a changing world, the British Empire stands firm and undivided, conscious of the greatness of its past and determined to contribute its maximum efforts to world concord and prosperity.

NOTES OF THE DAY

THE SILVER BILL

President Roosevelt's new Silver Bill follows the predictions almost to the letter. He goes all the way with the silver bloc, except to the point of committing himself to action. Further progress is entirely contingent upon the development of a variety of factors, including negotiations for international co-operation and what the Administration may regard as being in the public interest. Presidential intentions when the Bill is passed by Congress, as it will be, are deliberately concealed, from which the inference may reasonably be drawn that, for the present, he intends to do nothing. Mr. Roosevelt's skill in the art of politics would undoubtedly have persuaded him to seek the applause of the inflationists had he had anything more tangible than a generalised statement of policy to offer.

WEAKENED POSITION

Nevertheless, the silver situation will repay close observation. The President has already weakened his position by temporising with the silver bloc. The best that can be said for the compromise is that it may have been the only way to avoid mandatory remonetisation. A flat rejection of the silver demands would have been far more pleasing to those who believed the occasion to be one when Mr. Roosevelt's courage would have been a better weapon than his charm of personality. The nearness of the elections has, however, to be borne in mind. Silver boosting pressure is not only supported by the coterie of Silver Senators; it has behind it the whole power of the inflationary sentiment in the United States, particularly strong throughout the farming industry and the debtor classes.

CONGRESS ACTIVITY

It would not be safe to suppose that the Silver Bill will come through both branches of Congress in precisely the form as drafted by the Treasury Department. Amendments to move the Administration faster than it desires to go may compel the President to ponder over the desirability of exercising his right of veto or of knocking under. The battle is neither over nor won until the proposed legislation reaches the President for signature. The silver bloc do not lack skill in manoeuvre. Meanwhile, London comments concerning fears of upsetting trade with the Orient if the price of silver rises too abruptly merely reveal old prejudices. If President Roosevelt has any idea of attempting a sky-rocket boost, or even if he has mapped out any programme as they arise, he has doubtless been guided by the study of the China situation undertaken by Professor Rogers, from whom he has been receiving constant reports.

CHINA'S INTEREST

It has already been shown fairly convincingly that China is not the debtor nation she is generally believed to be. Her exports, visible and invisible, are claimed to balance her imports and to leave a margin in her favour. One aspect of the argument of those who have China's financial position so much at heart, ostensibly, thus disappears completely. Shanghai's interests may not be those of China as a whole. In Hongkong, it is surely undeniable that an increase in the value of silver and the purchasing power of the dollar would be a great boon in the present period of acute depression and economic and social distress.

TAXPAYERS AROUSED

Mob violence is a thing no-one can reasonably condone, of course. Yet the recent incident at Pottsville, in Pennsylvania, where more than a thousand irate taxpayers stormed the City Hall, dragged two county commissioners out by force, and demanded explanations of recent county tax increases, is a thing which one could deplore altogether too much. The taxpayer is ordinarily a pretty docile sort of specimen. He pays and pays and pays. Government and municipal officials squander his money for him and raise his rates and taxes, and he goes on paying and seldom grumbles. That very docility, when one gets right down to root causes, is one reason he continues to be misused. If officials everywhere knew that taxpayers would visit the office with blood in their eyes, demanding explanations, when the rates went up, we might have a little more care and economy in the spending of public funds.

WHERE THE NEW DEAL SUCCEEDS

By REXFORD G. TUGWELL
ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE.

IT IS my belief that the core of the American Tradition is to be found in a kind of defiance to fate. We will not do what we do not want to do and coercion cannot make us. We can be fooled, but not for long. We have a precious inventiveness which gets us out of holes. We have a saving reverence of authority. These basic traits determine the structure of our laws and of our Government. No one, with the slightest sense of history, would try to fit such a people into a regimented scheme, would try to think for them instead of getting them to think for themselves.

It seems to me ironic that measures which are taken to assure the democratic process throughout our industry and our agriculture should be said to be regimentation. There is a distinction to be made between people and things, which is overlooked in this. A part of the conspicuous victory over nature on this continent has been the power which has been exhibited in subduing natural materials and forces to a will for well-being.

It is my conception of the New Deal that it shall insure the subjugation of things, and restore to men the freedoms they have earned, together with all the advantages which ought to accrue from our victories over nature. Those who are shouting "regimentation" do not recognize the inevitability of this process; they are those who have greatly benefited from the subjection of man to things. The beneficiaries of private industrial regimentation cannot prevail, of course, for it is not in the nature of Americans to permit it. But it offers an excellent illustration of the confusion of thought into which we fall in trying to sort out those purposes and plans which we shall ultimately want from those which we shall ultimately reject.

Social change in America cannot go on any faster than the people who are affected want it to go on. That is one of the assurances against any danger that it may go too fast in this country. Those who are favoured under present arrangements have too ready a remedy against excessive speed. Also, for the present, it must be remembered that we suffer from years of blocking. Changes can come slowly if progress is not altogether stopped. But when it is stopped, an accumulation of desirable policies is ready to be let loose and much more rapid changes result. The resistance mechanism is almost too perfect.

The sovereignty of the American people is the real source of this Administration's power, there is not a man among you who does not recognize this, though there are some who appear to resent it. For one, do not wish to supplant this sovereignty with another kind whose theory is that for some groups and interests there should be immunity from political control. That way lies economic oligarchy. It involves the creation of autocratic institutions which are alien to the American spirit. We were drifting toward them in the post-war years. Our present return to Democracy constitutes as I believe, their final repudiation in this nation.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has been spoken of as one of the regimenting agencies. I should like for the moment to examine this idea. The best comment on it is furnished, I think, by pointing out that it does no more than make its machinery available to co-operators. Its life blood is furnished by the County Production Control Associations.

It is a democratic process revised to meet the necessities of a world economic system. It is not laissez faire, but neither is it anything else for which a doctrinal name is appropriate. Curiously enough this stubborn unwillingness of such practical devices as these to accommodate themselves to literary terms infuriates many people. "Why don't you come out," they say, "and admit that this is Socialism or Fascism or Communism—or something?" I sympathize with this impulse because it is a highly academic one, and, as you know, I am a professor. But I can't agree that national policies ought to be shaped with reference to any dogma just so that detractors can conveniently attach a label to them and find a library full of ready-made criticisms.

In any process of social experimentation a good deal depends on who does the experimenting and what it is done for. The objections to the process which have been made most vociferously up to now have come from industrialists and financiers. This is, of course, because for the first time they have been made the subjects of it. Hitherto they have been used to experimenting with the rest of us without other penalties than financial ones. Some of the experiments turned out well, some badly. It was, and still is, important that such experimentation should take place.

But it is equally important that when the holding company becomes a factor of importance, when prices are manipulated by a monopoly, or when new machines or processes displace workers, public bodies should also make their accommodations to these new devices in our social life. What is needed is to try new devices from the public side, to adopt them if they succeed or reject them if they fail. But I do not see how there can be objection to a method which was forced on the Government by the effects which were felt from the same method used elsewhere.

The two essential features, then, of the Rooseveltian method are the modernized democratic processes which it fosters and the experimental nature of its approach to the handling of problems. It ought to be obvious that a certain atmosphere is important to these processes—one which is not so unfriendly as to confuse all the issues and to misrepresent all the results. Freedom of speech means freedom for every opinion and every group, whether or not there is consent or agreement.

The democratic process or the experimental method will never threaten the real freedom of the press. That would be a contradiction in terms, for neither can succeed without the fullest and freest discussion of every proposal. There is no other way in which

The Very Idea!

SLAPPING AND SLOPPING

By George

We slapped a fellow on the back yesterday and lost a friend. From the respectable pieces of his conversation afterwards it appeared that he had been to the beach sun-bathing.

It also appeared that we had given him a pain in the neck, back, and sides; that we were a clumsy brute, a senseless ape, and from henceforth as pleasant to erstwhile friend as a perforated maggot to a gorgonzola.

After friend had taken off shirt we stripped off several layers of hanging skin and told him to keep his shirt on. Anyway, we argued, why go to the beach to sunbathe if it makes you into a cantankerous imitation of a nude savage?

On which note we parted.

ANNODE TO A BOW

(With apologies to Walt Whitman)

A cow
Like the listless love limerick of lovely nature

Stood grazing.
She was not chewing the cud (nor as she very well might have been was she doing anything else).

She was grazing.

The cow!

Making her mournful melancholy moan mingle mellowly among the mistletoe, (much to the unmilitated mirth of the merry mothblown Minnesota magnolias), she

Stood grazing.

It seemed that summer's sweet soothing slither of soul-stabbing sickness had rotten the cow by the horns,

For

As

If

She had not heard the herdsmen's hearty hoots hovering hollowly hover the hill.

She was still damned well grazing.

Love Will Find A Way

We: I see by the papers that Tiddles, a Kowloon Tong cat, walked a hundred miles in 270 days. What do you think he did that for?

Sally: The Cat: How should I know?

We: You are more familiar with the habits of Tom cats than we are. Do you think it was a love affair?

Sally: Possibly.

We: But a hundred miles seems a long way to keep an appointment, especially if you have to walk.

Sally: romantically: Love knows neither time nor distance.

We: What is the longest distance any of your boy friends have walked?

Sally: They have walked from the ends of the earth over the face of the world.

We: Swimming the seven seas and limping across the five continents?

Sally: Indifferent to danger, suffering hunger and thirst, climbing snow-capped mountains, toiling through burning deserts.

We: Ransacking the dustbins of east and west, cadging milk from the doorsteps of Babylon and the Peak. Cats must be great enthusiasts.

Sally: I beg your pardon?

We: You know what I mean.

Sally: You mean they must be great lovers?

We: Yes. Or great liars.

London, May 2.

Will there be a war between England and Australia if Jardine (beg his pardon, Mr. Jardine) captains the English cricket team in the Test?

Why did I apologise and write "Mr. Jardine"?

Because, as Mr. Jardine is not a paid professional cricketer, he is therefore a gentleman and entitled to the prefix "Mr."

Paid professionals are always referred to as plain Smith or Brown like convicted criminals and authors.

Anyway, is it war or peace? In the clubs and pubs and at the street corners this question was being freely discussed last week by men in evening clothes and fashionably dressed women.

As soon as it was reported that the Australians were really there at last thousands of young men rushed to the recruiting offices, and hundreds of irresponsible youths marched round the West End of London shouting: "A Canber-ra! A Canber-ra!" and smashing bottles of Australian wine.

Historical women were distributing white feathers in Piccadilly.

Although a national newspaper (which takes everything seriously) has stated that "the English public intends to give the Australians the kindest of welcomes," I understand that the Home Fleet were secretly mobilised, and that machine gun nests, protected by sandbags, had been hurriedly built at Southampton Docks where the invading team will arrive.—Our Own Correspondent.

"Mama is going to queer everything. Keeps telling him a man shouldn't marry a woman with an expensive family."

HOME RULE
FOR WALESDOMINION STATUS
DEMANDDEBATE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Aberystwyth, May 23. Behind closed doors the Welsh Nationalist Party has been discussing the new Constitution which their experts have drafted providing for "full dominion status" for the ancient principality.

The demand for "home rule for Wales" comparable with that granted to the Irish Free State, dates back a generation or more to the big agitation for the disestablishment of the Church of England in Wales, the campaign in which Mr Lloyd George won his spurs. Laid down until about four years ago when a committee of Welsh lawyers and economists, situated mainly in London, began a lengthy study of the grievances of Wales as part of the United Kingdom, from that they went on to the task of drafting a model constitution. The actual text has not been made public and presumably will not be until the leaders of the "Nationalist movement" have agreed regarding its terms. Apparently that task is to take several months.

LEADER OF MOVEMENT.

Leader of the movement is Mr. Saunders Lewis, a Nonconformist minister and regarded as one of the most effective orators in Wales. Mr. Lewis recently became a convert to Roman Catholicism, and as the Welsh are overwhelmingly Protestant, he resigned his leadership of the home rule movement in order not to excite religious opposition to it. But the Welsh Nationalist Party has refused to accept his resignation, a step has excited great discussion in the Welsh "chapters." The party will not be granted unless there is complete unanimity among the Welsh people in the demand for it. That this unanimity exists has not yet been proved, in fact, the task before the Nationalist Party is to bring such unanimity about. The campaign is only in the opening stages.

WELSH GRIEVANCE.

Such significance as it has comes from the fact that it coincides with a similar movement for "home rule for Scotland." In both cases the complaint is that the British Government, highly centralized in London, has neglected Welsh and Scottish interests in trade, industry, education and similar fields. This complaint gets a certain amount of strength from the fact that the principal industries of both Wales and Scotland have not shared in the current improvement to the same degree as the industries of England. The latter, of course, are far more diversified.

According to reports here, the new constitution goes so far as to set up separate customs and tariffs as well as a "Welsh Army and Navy."—United Press.

SERVICES AT THE CATHEDRALS

"I want you to take away with you to-day the thought that your membership of the British Empire puts you under an obligation of loyalty, not first to King George, but first to Christ," said the Very Rev. Dean Swann in a brief address to over 400 school children at the special Empire Day service at St. John's Cathedral this morning.

Amongst those present were Mr. G. R. Sayer, Director of Education, Mr. A. O. Brown, Miss H. D. Sawyer, Miss Atkins, Mr. E. G. Stewart, Mr. G. W. Reeve, Mr. Lo Yuk-lun, Capt. P. S. Cannon, Mr. A. T. Hamilton, Rev. L. L. Nash, Mrs. P. Y. Stark, Mr. D. M. Richards, Mr. D. J. Crozier, Mr. N. Evans, Miss B. M. Pope, Miss K. Bennington and Miss Hall.

Children present were from the Diocesan Boys' and Girls' Schools, Central British, St. Stephen's Boys' and Girls' Schools, St. Paul's Boys' and Girls' Schools, Wanchai Government School, the Anglo-Indian School, Yau-matli, Ellis Kadoorie School, Gap Road English School, Kowloon Junior School, Bellhills School, Queen's College, Garrison School, Peak School and Fairlie.

LOYALTY TO CHRIST.

In the course of his address, Dean Swann drew the attention of the congregation to the symbol of St. George and the cross of His Majesty King George V, on an English flag note. The effect of those two symbols so close together he said was a reminder of their duty to the King and Emperor and to help keep before them always the standard of St. George who was the standard of loyalty above all things to Christ.

"St. George gave his life for Christ because he would not put Empire before Christ, and we in the Empire must follow that. Our beloved King would be the first to say so. He himself is a man of great personal loyalty to Christ, and a man who must follow because of that. I want you to take away with you to-day the thought that your membership of the British Empire puts you under an obligation of loyalty not first to King George but first to Christ.

"If we are to be truly loyal to our King Emperor we must be loyal to Christ. If we are to do the best for the Empire we must care more for God even more than for Empire. I want all of you here to-day, of all nationalities, to understand that loyalty to God must come first and if you are loyal to God, then you will be doing your greatest service to the British Empire."

AT THE CATHOLIC CATHEDRAL

Father O'Carroll's Address

"A good Catholic is a good citizen," said the Rev. Fr. O'Carroll, R.C. Chaplain to the Forces, when preaching at the special Empire Day service held at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception this morning for children from the Catholic Schools. Over 500 children participated in the service, which was conducted by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Valtorta, Vicar-Apostolic of Hongkong assisted by members of the Cathedral Seminary.

The proceedings were opened by the band of the St. Louis Industrial School rendering a March. The Seminary Choir then sang the hymn "Regina Cœli Lætare," this being followed by the occasional address from the pulpit by the Rev. Fr. O'Carroll.

After Mr. Valtorta had given the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the congregation sang the "Adeste Fideles." The service ended with the singing of the National Anthem.

Taking as his text "Catholicism and Citizenship," the Rev. Fr. O'Carroll said:—The Catholic Church teaches that all lawful authority is from God, and that the just laws of the properly constituted civil government have the Divine sanction, and that when rightly acting within its properly constituted sphere the properly constituted civil government acts with the authority of God himself. It stands to reason therefore, that if you are practising Catholics, later on as men and women, you will also of necessity be good citizens."

TRUE PATRIOTISM.

The preacher then outlined the form of religious practice that was to make them good citizens. "Love of country," he continued, "is all right in its own way, and he is indeed a dull clod of earth who has not some regard for the land of his birth."

"Patriotism or love of country in due measure is a virtue. But the patriotism of the man who leaves out of account every country but his own may be a positive menace to the peace of the world." The preacher pointed out that this was at variance with the spirit of their Church, which held a united membership of 400,000,000 people belonging to all races and speaking all languages, and

CORRESPONDENCE

"The Dog and/or Boundary Business."

To the Editor.

Hongkong Telegraph.

Sir—I have been to look at the boundary stones erected by a beneficent Government for the instruction of an apathetic public, and very pretty they are, nicely incised with black lettering.

Is it not rather a pity that, after all the trouble to which the Government must have gone to prepare these stones, not to speak of the taxpayers' money which has been spent in connection therewith, they are, for practical purposes useless?

The face of the stones contain an inscription that they have been erected to mark the boundary under authority of Ordinance No. 30 of 1900. Now, as a law-abiding subject, I had a look for that Ordinance, just to see what it said. Imagine my amazement, on turning to the official bound copies of the Ordinances, to find there was "no such ordinance." The last Ordinance noted in 1900 is No. 12 and that is marked as repealed! Can it be that the Government is putting up a bluff?

In any case, why make reference to an ordinance of 1900, when the definition given by the Interpretation Ordinance of many years later is that which stands to-day? As your readers know, the latter refers to a signed plan held at the Land Office, and even if one ignores the fact that no natural features are shown on the plan, and therefore it is useless for that reason, there is an additional one which makes it even more so. The plan is on such a small scale that the line indicating the boundary has a definite thickness in relation to it, and even if it were possible from the plan to plot the line on the ground (which I doubt), its thickness would cover several hundred yards—and therefore be quite useless for defining a boundary!

Yours etc.,

MOONLIGHT LAUNCH PICNIC
ON MAY 30

The European Y.M.C.A. does not intend to let any grass grow under its feet this year regarding summer activities.

Yesterday afternoon, a meeting of members from both the Ladies and Men's sections, decided on a programme of moonlight and week-end launch picnics during the next six months.

The meeting, after some discussion, decided to hold the first moonlight launch picnic of the season on Wednesday, May 30, leaving the Kowloon Police Pier at 8.30 p.m. Tickets will cost $1, and may be obtained aboard the launch.

Saturday afternoon picnics will be held once a fortnight during the summer, the season commencing on June 9. Tickets for this picnic will be available at the moonlight picnic on May 30.

The Picnic Committee, of which Mr. H. E. Lewis is Hon. Secretary, is endeavouring to obtain one of the Yau-matli ferry vessels for the picnics this year.

Patrons of the Lee Theatre will be pleased to learn of the reduction in prices to all seats, dress circle, back and front stalls are now respectively, 40 cts., 30 cts. and 25 cts.; children, 20 cts. to dress circle and back stalls.

Siu Heung-ying, died at the Kowloon Hospital at 6 a.m. to-day. He was admitted yesterday afternoon with head injuries, caused by falling from the first floor of his residence at 4 Nelson Street, first floor.

To See, a seven-year-old male child was knocked down by private car No. 2887 in Aberdeen yesterday, and was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital. The victim lives on boat No. 2376A.

which therefore was universal. It was impossible, he said, to be a member of the Universal Church and to think merely in terms of one's own country. Hence it is that an Imperialism which is in accord with Catholic principles and which makes for peace and goodwill amongst the nations commands itself to the Catholic.

The preacher then compared this with the benevolent form of Imperialism in the British Empire, which he held as the right kind of Imperialism, one in accord with Christian principles and making for peace and goodwill amongst nations, now so sorely needed.

Catholic Schools and Institutions taking part in the service were the Garrison School, St. Joseph's College, La Salle College, Wah Yan College, St. Louis Industrial School, Italian Convent, French Convent, Holy Spirit School, Kai Lap School, Wanchai Chinese School, Pui Tsim School, (1st) Hongkong (St. Joseph's) Troop Boy Scouts, (2nd) Hongkong (Catholic Cathedral) Troop Boy Scouts, (4th) Hongkong (Garrison) Troop Boy Scouts.

HARE LOSES TO MERLIN IN HARDCOURT ENCOUNTER

BEATEN IN FOUR SETS

Paris, May 23.
C. E. Hare, the 19-year-old British tennis "find," whose best performance recently was a victory over Fred Perry in the Inter-County hardcourt tournament, was defeated to-day in the second round of the French hardcourt championship by Andre Merlin, young Davis Cup player.

Merlin, playing good all-court tennis, defeated his young rival, who was officially selected to represent England in the championships, by scores of 6-1, 6-3, 6-7, 6-1.

Merlin, it will be remembered, gave Fred Perry an excellent fight in the all-important third singles in the Davis Cup challenge round at the Stade Roland Garros last year.

Heater states that all of the other leading British players have survived the second round of the French hardcourt championship.

SWIMMING RECORD

Dove Beats Rastall by 1.5 sec. Over 100 Yards

Easily the fastest time in England for a junior swimmer over 100 yards was made by F. Dove, of Tunbridge Wells, the Southern Counties junior champion, in his match with P. Rastall, the Northern junior champion, at the first important swimming gala of the season at Piffard-street Baths, London. Dove won in 68sec, beating Rastall by 1.5sec. Both boys show promise of being champions within a few years.

HOW ATHLETES WERE HOUSED

While complaints were being voiced on every side as to the handling of the general public, ticket sales, press accommodations and other details connected with the staging of the Far Eastern Games, not a peep was heard on any side as to housing conditions of the 600 athletes participating.

There must have been a reason; there was Ramon Ramos, efficient secretary treasurer of the Philippine Baseball League, was the man who was called in on the very short notice of 24 hours to assemble a staff, equip dormitories, provide mess arrangements, reading rooms, social entertainment, and other conveniences at the de La Salle College on Taft Avenue.

It was a last minute assignment and a serious one for the athletes were upon us and facilities had to be completed at once. Hungry mouths, tired and fatigued bodies, from the long daily training grind had to be made happy. An athlete is similar to a soldier, he thinks in terms of food and rest.

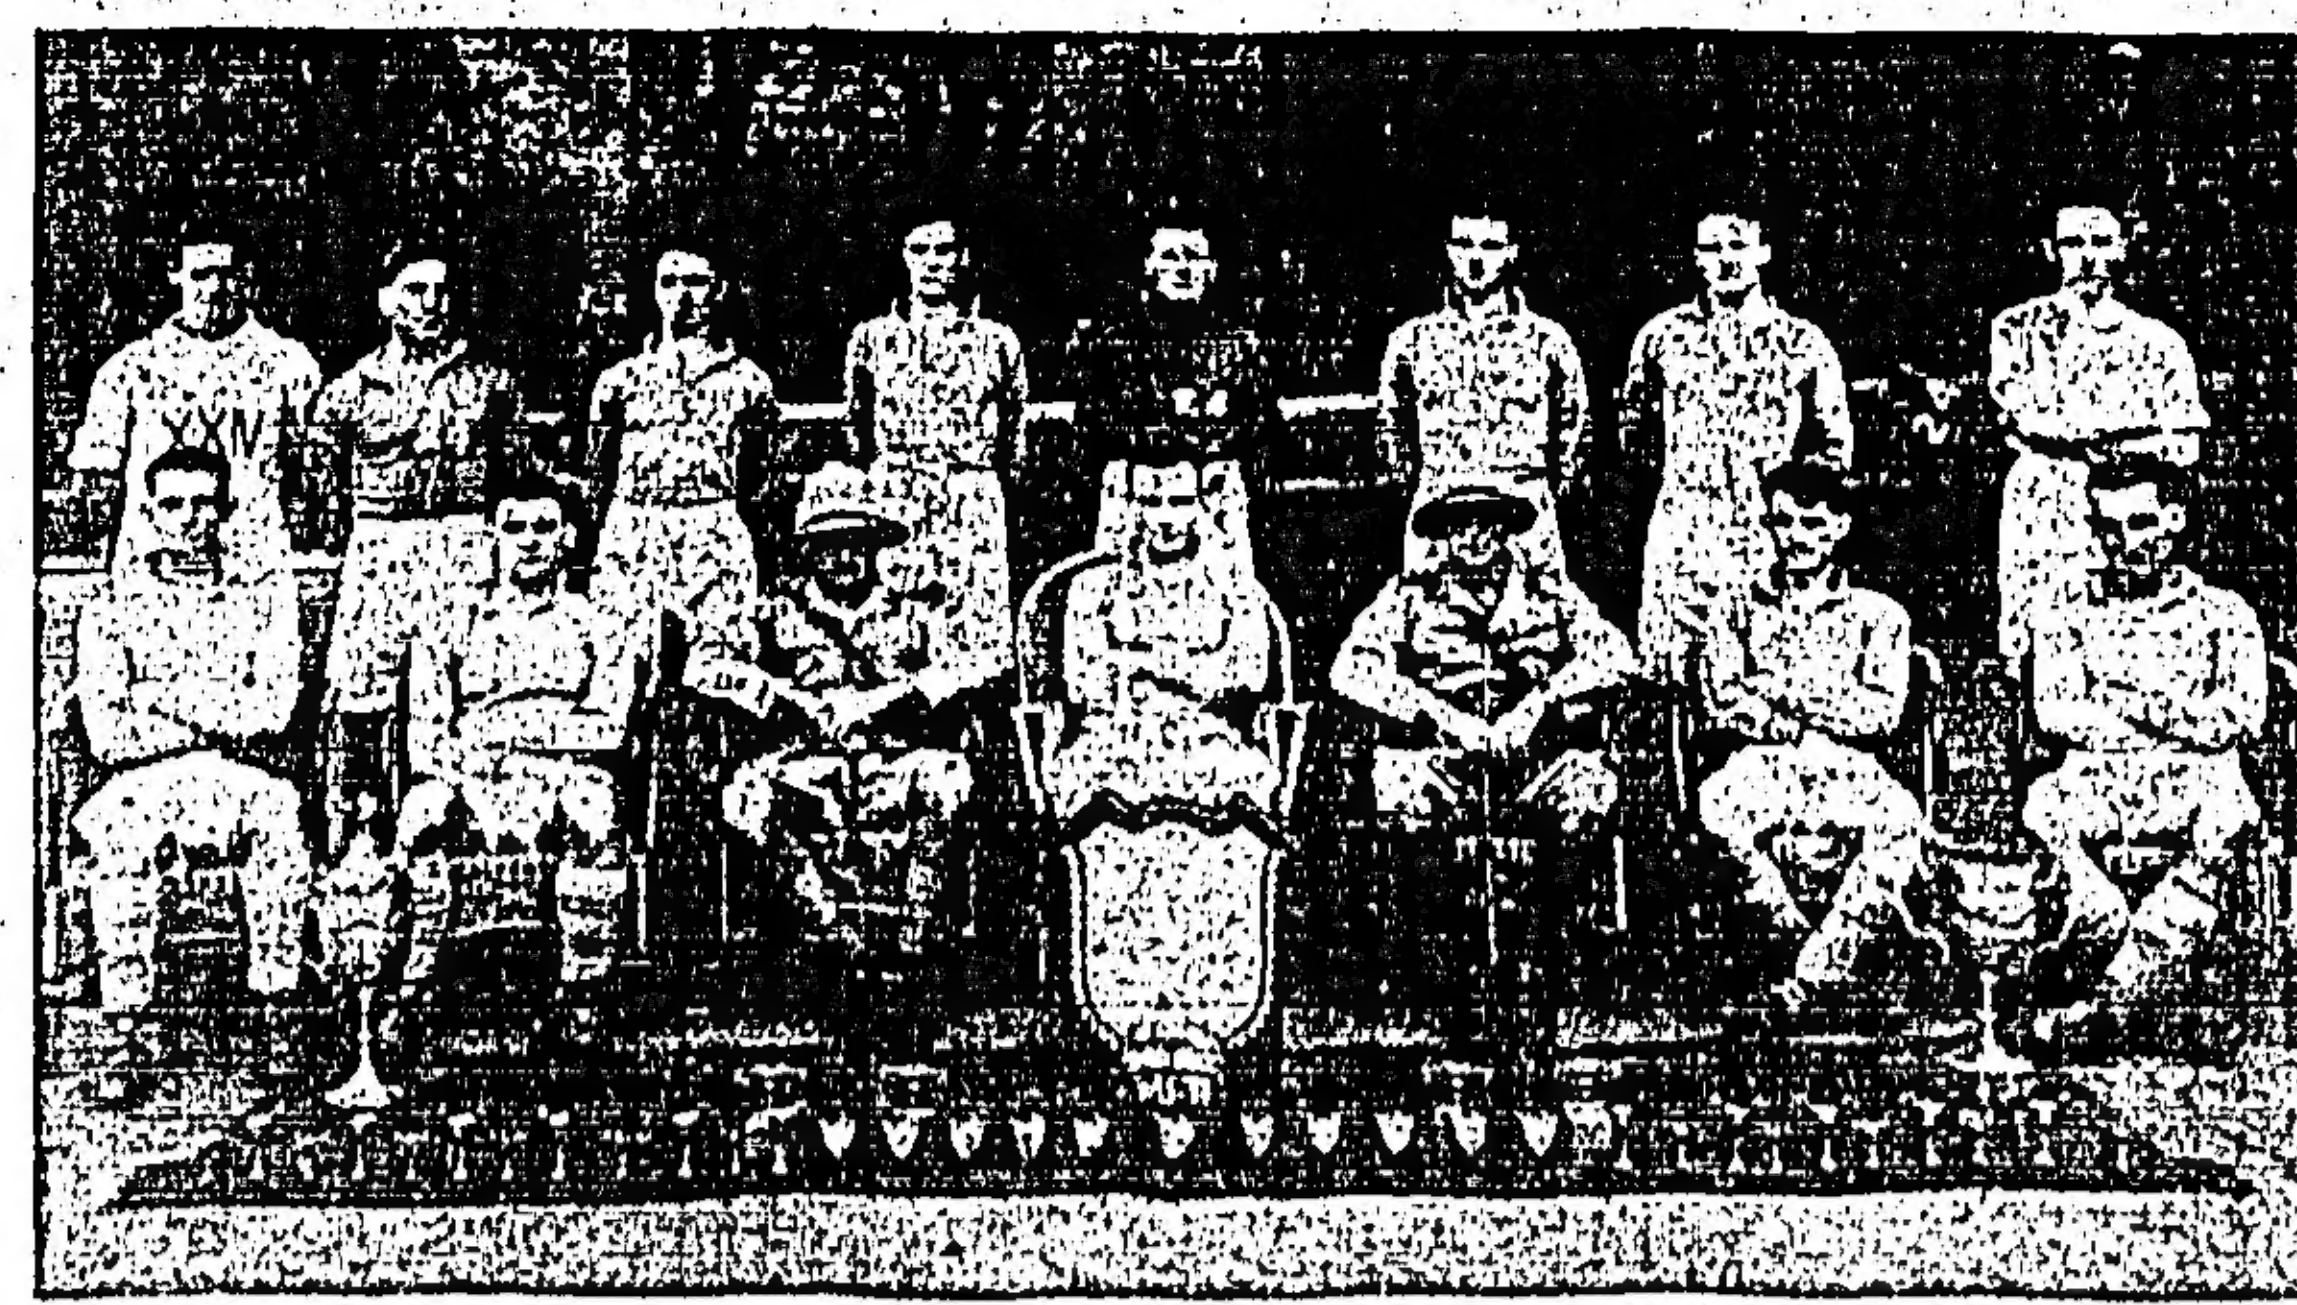

Despite the short notice Ramos had the huge dormitory ready on time. He devised a plan whereby each nation was given a separate wing of the building and went further by dividing each nation's competitors into separate groups keeping the various teams intact so that they would be easily located and would not cause a general disturbance to other groups who might be resting at that particular time.

Mr. Ramos was on duty 24 hours a day, having deserted the fireside of his family and established his own residence within the confines of the building so that he would be available at all times.

Within the short space of these 24 hours Ramos had to stop out and purchase cooking utensils, dishes, beds, linen, arrange for a daily supply of towels, reading matter, and have everything in readiness.

He also had to act as guide, general director, and an information bureau for the visiting athletes in aiding them to find their way about town.

It was really remarkable that Ramos was able to build up an efficient organization in this short period which under his guidance made the life of the athletes a happy one.

HOW MANCHESTER C. LIFTED THE ENGLISH CUP

Charles Buchan's Special Description

Less than five minutes from the end Manchester City scored the goal that won them the F.A. Cup after an interval of 30 years. Thus they emulated the 1931 performance of Newcastle United, the only team to carry off the trophy after conceding the first goal at Wembley. It was a dramatic finish to the best Final seen at this classic enclosure, writes Charles Buchan in the News-Chronicle.

Fast and vigorous, it seemed with mistakes, while Barnett was unreliable. Only Dale, a study defender, impressed. On the other hand, the Portsmouth rearward as solid as a rock Mackie and Smith, with superb understanding, protected Gillilan so well that he had not too much to do. They were given able assistance by Allen, who, despite his injury, was the dominant personality of the game. Rarely did Allen fail to get the ball in a tackle.

MOST ACCOMPLISHED PLAYER.
The City's half-back superiority was due to the great attacking work of Busby and Bray. The right half stood out as the most accomplished player on view, his delightful ball control being an inspiration to the side.

Bray, little inferior, seldom put a foot wrong. Cowan performed a tremendous amount of work, even if his headwork was poor. As Nichol and Thackeray paid most attention to defence, I missed their customary support of the front rank. In this respect they were inferior to the City wing halves, and because of their failings Portsmouth's attack never really got going.

Wedge and Worrall were responsible for several raids and played their parts well. Wedge nearly won the match early in the second half, but he narrowly missed the mark from an opening cleverly worked by Eason, Jack Smith and Eason were not conspicuous to any degree, and apart from scoring, Rutherford did not shine.

INTERVAL LEAD DESERVED.
For 70 minutes Portsmouth had presented such a solid defensive barrier that the City attack could force very few openings. Indeed, Gillilan had seldom been in difficulties.

By clever positioning, strong tackling and judicious kicking they had rendered the skillful City midfield movements innocuous by the time they reached the penalty area. Consequently they deserved their interval lead of a goal scored in the 28th minute. Following a throw-in on the right, Smith transferred the ball to Wedge, who presented Rutherford with a clear opening.

The outside-left dashed on, dribbled past Dale and from 15 yards sent a well-placed shot, which found the man with great accuracy. All play went well and the only fault was the delay in centring by Brook and Townsend and a hesitancy to shoot, especially in the first half.

Compared with the City attack they were disjointed. They Manchester men moved forward in line by quick, well-judged passes, which found the man with great accuracy. All play went well and the only fault was the delay in centring by Brook and Townsend and a hesitancy to shoot, especially in the first half.

Herd and Tilson took the honours. The inside-left had had luck with two second-half efforts, striking the upright and cross-bar. Tilson worried the defenders ceaselessly and deserved to crown City's third attempt at Wembley with success.

LAWN BOWLS

PAIRS CHAMPIONSHIP STARTS

The programme of matches in the Lawn Bowls Open Pairs championship was commenced yesterday afternoon. Three matches were played in Kowloon, one of which was unfinished, this was the tie between W. E. Hollands and J. J. Gregory, H. Gittins and T. Ferguson, which was played on the Kowloon Bowling Green Club's rink. It was a very close affair, and Gittins and Ferguson had a lead of three shots when the game was stopped on the 18th head. The match will be concluded this afternoon.

Playing on the same ground, J. Kompton and R. G. Craig had little difficulty in accounting for A. Brooksbank and J. Russell by 29 shots to 10. The winners scored on twelve heads, recording two fives and one six, while Russell and Brooksbank failed to touch form and scored on eight heads.

J. Fraser and A. Chapman gained a convincing win over J. M. Jack and L. Jack on the Club de Recreio grounds by 32 shots to 17.

Chapman and Fraser scored on 13 heads, recording one five and two fours, while their opponents scored on eight heads, with one five on the fifth head.

A Happy Valley two matches on the Police green were finished in almost total darkness. Medina and Coates, of Crimlogower C.C. had no difficulty in defeating Hollidge and Knight. They had a comfortable lead throughout and won by 27-10.

Playing well at the beginning, Dunne and Simpson led C. G. Silva and F. Silva up to the twelfth head by 15-10. They lost two threes and

LOSERS QUIET TIME AT WINDSOR

After the tumult and the shouting the teams which battled so fiercely for "The Cup" at Wembley relaxed the following day.

Manchester City, proudly bearing the trophy with them, went to Brighton for the day, and Portsmouth, who led by a goal at half-time, only to lose by 2 to 1, saw the sights of Windsor, and went back to Portsmouth later.

From the balcony of the Royal Albion Hotel, where the City team, led by Sam Cowart, the captain, proudly displayed the Cup to admiring crowds on the promenade.

THE ROMANCE OF SWIFT.
Swift the 10-year-old goal-keeper who fainted immediately the final whistle went but was able to receive his medal from the King with the rest of the team, has quite recovered. "His collapse was due to sheer excitement," one of the directors told the News Chronicle. A year ago he was not even on the club's books, but through one of the players he obtained a ticket for the final.

"He stood right behind one of the goals which he defended. Of course, he had not the slightest idea that a year later he would be on the other side of that goal."

HIS STREET DECORATED.
The street in which Swift lives at Blackpool (Hibson-street) is decorated with flags and bunting, and a banner, "Welcome Home, Frank," stretches across the street.

Thunderous Welcome To Australians

Thanks to the happy thought of Mr. T. P. Ratcliff, leader of the News Chronicle community singing, at Wembley the Australian cricketers were given a welcome such as no other team has ever had before. They will cherish happy memories of the Cup Final.

As soon as they arrived, Mr. Ratcliff announced the fact to the vast crowd. Wishing the Australians every pleasant thing in this life excepting the Ashes, he called on the 90,000 people to sing: "For they are jolly good fellows."

This grey-headed figure, clad in a white sweater, who stood alone on his platform, did more to emphasise the national feeling than any other man could have hoped to achieve.

His call met with a dramatic response, and the welcome culminated in three rousing cheers that only reached a deeper note when the King himself appeared on the turf to greet the rival teams.

For an hour and a half after the match, Mr. Ratcliff was autographing menu cards for leading football directors and officials.

A four in succession to give the Recreio pair an advantage of five points when the sixteenth head was commenced. They played pluckily, however, but were beaten by 23-18.

A surprise of the afternoon was the defeat of Ellis and Riddell at the hands of their club-mates Kelly and Fitches at North Point on the Hongkong Electric green. It was a close fight all the way, Kelly and Fitches winning by 25-22.

The game between Carey and Glendinning and Hunter and Mist was postponed.

DETAILS SCORES.
Kelly and Fitches beat Ellis and Riddell 25-22.
C. G. Silva and F. Silva beat Dunne and Simpson 23-18.

HAMPSHIRE SMITE AUSSIES

SCORE 401 FOR EIGHT

MEAD HITS 143P CENTURY

LOWNDES' SIXES

London, May 23.

Hampshire to-day gave the Australian cricket tourists a taste of the own medicine, when in the opening day of the match at Southampton, they hit up 401 for 8 wickets.

This is the biggest score yet compiled against the visitors, who have to date practically monopolised the score.

Once again the veteran batsman, Philip Mead, led the way with a characteristic century.

It was the first of his career, and he reached a total of 139 before dismissal. Sound in every stroke, he hit fifteen boundaries, in no of his best efforts in recent years.

Lowndes was brilliant mood, and his 140 was added with gems of strokes, three of which yielded him sixes, and further twenty produced boundaries. —Reuter.

U.S.A. STARTS DAVIS CUP QUEST

Against Canada To-day

America enters the 1934 Davis Cup competition to-day, when the opening matches with Canada in the North American Zone will be played. Lester R. Stofen, of Los Angeles, George Lott, Jr., of Chicago, Johnny Briggs, of New York, and H. Shields, of New York, will represent the United States.

The meeting between the United States and Canada will open Davis Cup competition in the North American zone. The winner will play Mexico, with the surviving team meeting the winner of the European zone at Wimbledon, England, July 21, 23 and 24.

All of the players to meet Canada are veterans at Davis Cup play, except Stofen. But the blond Californian has improved his game so much since he lost in the semi-finals of the national championships last year to Fred Perry of England.

Shields last played in Davis Cup competition in 1931, another year that American was eliminated by the British in the inter-zone matches.

Van Ryn has not been playing much tennis lately. Teamed with Wilmer Allison, he made tennis history in 1932 when he and Cochet and Brugnon of France succumbed to them in the challenged round.

The American squad, it is generally believed, will reach the challenge round in an attempt to wrest the historic trophy from England.

Those selected to compose the team began practice ten days ago.

Medina and Coates beat Hollidge and Knight 27-10.
J. Kompton and R. G. Craig beat A. Brooksbank and J. Russell by 29 shots to 10.

J. Fraser and A. Chapman beat J. M. Jack and L. Jack by 32 shots to 17.

W. E. Hollands and J. J. Gregory were down by 1 to 17 on the 18th head in their match against H. Gittins and T. Ferguson.

Filipino Pitcher Makes Himself Famous

FIRST PLAYER TO BLANK OUT IN FAR EASTERN GAMES

Enter Joe Bautista into baseball's hall of fame. The former Santo Tomas burler became the first pitcher in all Far Eastern games history to pitch a no-hit, no-run baseball game.

Bautista accomplished this feat against the Chinese aggregation, the Philippines winning, 14 to 0.

The local boys not only won the game but they did it with a second string combination, only one regular being in the lineup—Santa Rosa at first base.

Following their one-sided victory over Japan the local management decided to give the regulars a rest and present an opportunity to every man on the roster to perform at least once.

The displaced substitutes collected more hits against China than the regulars did on opening day, functioning as an evenly balanced nine. It was a masterful exhibition that will remain in the archives of Far Eastern records throughout the ages.

EMPIRE CANCER CAMPAIGN

SATURDAY NIGHT'S CONCERT

The Commissioner and members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade wish to remind the public of the subscription concert to be held at King's College on Saturday next in aid of the above British Empire Cancer Fund. Dr. Montgomery has kindly consented to take the chair.

The concert promises to be one of the best that has been given for some time, and will be of interest to both Europeans and Chinese as artists, well known to both communities, are appearing, so that all will enjoy the programme. It is possible that through an oversight many have not received invitation tickets, but it is to be hoped that all who can will attend.

A letter received to-day from Mr. Quist, Consul General for the Netherlands says:—"The object is worthy of all praise. Cancer research is universal, as by its result the whole world will profit."

As the Order of St. John has for its main object the alleviation of suffering, irrespective of race, nationality, or religion, it is only fitting that the local organisation should do its share for the Empire appeal.

The King's College and Saiyung-pun School Old Boys' Association announce that a farewell party in honour of Mr. Alfred Morris the retiring Headmaster, will be given in the Great Hall of King's College at 7.30 p.m. to-day. An invitation is extended to all, including friends of Mr. Morris, particularly all the old boys of the two schools.

DISASTER FUND

TYPICAL CASES RELIEVED

$4,000 TOPPED

Firms, clubs or individuals who intend contributing to the Telegraph Fund on behalf of the sufferers in the gasworks disaster are reminded that the Fund is being closed on Thursday, May 31st.

Details are to hand from the St. John Ambulance Brigade distributing centre of the first batch of cases dealt with by way of cash grants from the Fund. These show that practically all the recipients are of the poorer class. They include seamstresses, woman hawkers, cooks, and quite a number of unemployed.

A frequent entry in the report reads "All possessions lost." One worthy of note is: "Too poor to lose much; nothing but clothes left."

A typical case helped was that of a woman whose husband and son were burnt to death, whilst she herself and another son were treated in hospital. She has two other children.

A machinist who lived by piece-work lost her sewing-machine in the fire, while her other possessions were either destroyed by fire or water. She was given a grant, as also was a widow who had been unable to obtain a hawker's licence or any other work. She was only able to rent a bed-board, and had

EMPIRE AIR DAY CELEBRATIONS

VETERAN PILOTS TOUR

London, May 23.
The new Imperial Airways liner Diana, the fastest air liner in the world, which is to-morrow making a thousand-miles tour of aerodromes in Britain, as part of the Empire Air Day celebrations, will be piloted by Captain O. P. Jones, who has flown over one million miles.

As air line pilot, Captain Jones has flown across the Channel 4,600 times and has carried 65,000 passengers. In all, he has spent 10,000 hours, or more than one year, at the controls of flying machines. His record is very nearly equalled by seven other veteran pilots of the Imperial Airways.—British Wireless.

lost all her belongings, as well as a sum of money in notes.

Another case helped was that of a widow with a family of five, who lost everything they possessed excepting the clothes in which they escaped.

These instances show that the Fund is being put to good use, and contributors can rest assured that all cases assisted are most closely scrutinised.
